Hi Max,

Thanks for letting us know about the paramedic access. I'll flag it to OPS now. There are supposed to be emergency egress routes maintained at all times for reasons like this.

Paramedics are also aware that they can use QED SB all the way from the core as an emergency egress route as needed.

I'll provide an update tomorrow on this front once I hear back from them.

Cheers
Ian

Hello All,

Just a small update on the Rideau Canal side. Protesters were seen on and around the canal with their signs and flags, but not causing any issues.

The only issue that was brought up was the fact that ambulances are having a lot of trouble getting to the Skateway, especially near Rideau. One patient was stuck on the ice with a broken leg, in -20°C weather for over 2 hours before the ambulance was able to arrive. Unfortunately there is not much we can do on our end for this.

I'll report again if the overall situation gets worst.

Thank you,
Max

Subject: RE: Updated plans for Confed Park

Finale update. The streets are flooded with protesters on foot and in vehicles blocking roadways. It is very difficult to travel from Confed back to the office or anywhere else for that matter. I assisted OPS and security with traffic at QUED and Laurier for quite a while, it gave me chance to see the comings and goings in the park and was appreciated by OPS on site. The park is still full of people but no issues to report. The pop up tent is down and the driver of the truck /atv has been dealt with. Onsite security (protester) has advised they will be more astute as to this kind of activity and stop it from happening again. Ian's plan to block part of the park should help with vehicular traffic. Several big rigs are still parked on the closed portion of QUED, some will stay, some will leave tonight. I will be on post again tomorrow morning. Should anyone require further info, please call or email me. 613-720-6589. Jason.

Subject: Updated plans for Confed Park

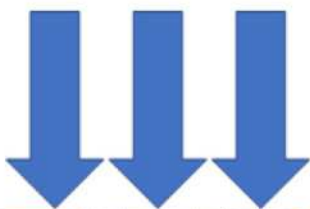

Hi all,

I'm hoping that this will be my last updated for the day (cross all your fingers for me!)

In an effort to better protect Confed Park the following steps have been coordinated with the City and PSPC:

- * The City will narrow, using barrels, the three pedestrian accesses along Laurier and Elgin down to 2M to dissuade vehicle access into the park at those locations
- * PSPC, at around midnight tonight, will place 3 concrete jersey barriers at the east end of the park, at the west-end of the cleared area (image below)
 - * Hopefully this will dissuade users from continuing to drive their vehicles in the park.

Cheers
Ian
